I'd show you the lives they led and the stories behind the legends. I'd show you Route 66 and the reason why the story of the road remains after so many years. In 1954, a young doctor named John F. Kennedy dies in an automobile accident. His body lies in a coffin in a funeral home. But something is off. The coffin is not empty. And when a curious nurse opens the lid, she discovers that it contains a boy who insists that she set him free. He will not stop until he has fulfilled his desperate mission: to escape the room. So he sets off on a cat-and-mouse chase through the corridors and blue-tiled rooms of the funeral home, until he reaches the window that will take him back to the garden and the fresh air. After this, his story is unclear. Something happens in the garden, but it's never made explicitly clear. Just as before, he manages to escape. He is in the car and driving through the night and the next morning, with no memory of the events that led to his death. He has the name of the child: John F. Kennedy. But he no longer knows who or what he is. Genre: Adventure, Driving Game. "One that will give you the spine tingling chills. Inventive and thrilling!" - KONG Magazine (Winner of Best Driving Game of 2015) "Scary, heart-stopping fun for those who prefer their driving games for their story rather than their control mechanics." - Slide To Play "It does all of the above, and more, to make this one of my must-play games for 2015." - 148Apps If you enjoy games that can really play with your head, and/or take a lot of time to put together, you'll like this. There's a lot to love here. In addition to an intricate story and a compelling mechanic, you get an epic ending that will challenge even the most hardcore of gamers. A lot of time and thought was spent on this game and it shows. For those who have trouble following the story, there is a very helpful in-game video message that explains what's going on and how to get through it. Be sure to listen to that video before you start the game, and if you have any issues with the story, that can be very helpful. Running time is 3 hours. 9/10 — I think it would be a 4/5 if it wasn't for the sad ending.
